

Aidan Sleavin is a Senior working on his undergraduate degree in the department of Aeronautical and Astronautical Engineering at the University of Washington. As a research member of the Illimited lab he is tackling problems relating to undulatory motion and nonlinear dynamics. And is currently studying flying snakes and how their form influences their unique locomotion. Interests outside of academics include rock climbing, solving rubik's cubes, and skiing.